Puppy Updates: Where are they now?

Oberon, a male yellow lab, started by Walt and Danny Overcash and recently raised by Jim and Luan Harmeson was released from training due to medical problems. Oberon has been adopted by a loving family. Oberon's vet sponsor while with the Overcash's was Lakewood Veterinary Hospital in Mooreville, and Walt and Danny were his food sponsors. Oberon's vet sponsor while with the Harmesons was Jordan Lake Animal Hospital of Pittsboro and his food sponsors were the Harmesons.

Sanka, a male golden retriever, raised by Patricia Neve and her family recently passed his in-for-training test. Sanka's vet sponsor was North Paw Animal Hospital of Durham and his food sponsors were Richard and Susan Copeland of Hillsborough.

Wynette, a female yellow lab, raised by Laura Wiles and her family was released from guide dog training. She is currently in training at ATF. Wynette's vet sponsor was Neuse River Veterinary Hospital in Wendell, and the Wiles were her food sponsors.

Triangle VisionWalk

The NCPRP participated in the Triangle VisionWalk event held by the Foundation Fighting Blindness on June 6, 2009. The mission of The Foundation Fighting Blindness is to find a cure for retinal degenerative disease. The NCPRP raised $179.13 for the organization. The walk was a well organized event that provided exposure for Guiding Eyes for the Blind, and a great socialization opportunity for our puppies. Thanks to everyone who participated or made a donation on behalf of the NCPRP walkers! If you missed the event, you will have another opportunity to participate on September 26, 2009 at McAlpine Creek Park in Charlotte.

Charlotte Area Puppies ride CATS! By Kelly Coney

On Saturday July 11th the Charlotte Area Transit System gave local Guiding Eyes for the Blind puppies a wonderful experience with a CATS Special Transportation bus. Six teams from the Charlotte area attended this outing including--Leigh Ames with Astro, Danny Overcash with Denton, Bart Austin with Hampton, Julie Haynes with Keegan, Jesika Baur with Lilac, and Kelly Coney and Paul Pacious with Tyson. Our host for the day was Terrance, a CAT Special Transportation employee. Terrance really helped to make the experience successful; he continuously asked what we wanted for our pups and what he could do to help us with the socialization.

When the pups first arrived they were allowed to get use to the bus by working around it in the parking lot while it was running. Then one dog at a time was allowed to walk up and down the stairs of the bus, and explore the inside with their raiser. In addition, pups were allowed to check out the wheelchair lift while it was on the ground and then when comfortable, ride the lift up onto the bus with their raiser and then back down. Finally, all of the pups loaded up onto the bus, where they actually took up every seat on the Special Transportation bus! All of the dogs settled nicely on the bus, allowing Terrance to take us for a ride around uptown Charlotte.

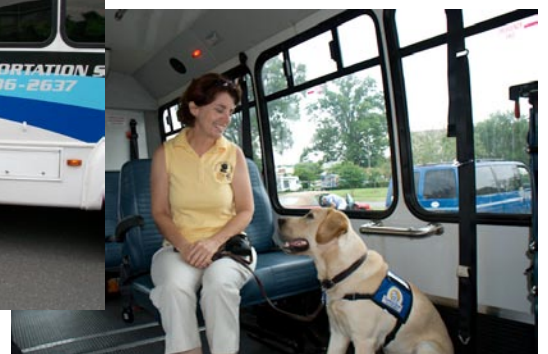

All of the pups did great at the CATS bus experience, and some of them even got to show this on the news when Channel 14 News was on the scene! Pups, raisers, Terrance and especially CATS made this event successful and fun. Terrance even joked that he should be our driver next year!!

IN LOVING MEMORY

Knight
4/6/99 – 6/22/09

Knight died of Osteosarcoma of the Jaw. He was initially raised by Danny and Walt Overcash when they were in Alpharetta, GA. His vet sponsor was the Alpharetta Animal Hospital, and the Overcash's were his food sponsors. He changed homes to Louise and Michael White on 2/5/00. His vet sponsor in Raleigh was Oberlin Animal Hospital, and the Whites were his food sponsors. Knight was released for lack of confidence at his in-for-training test, and was adopted by Louise and Michael who now live in Wilmington.

Dessert Social and Program

Please bring your favorite dessert, and join us for our Annual Potluck Dessert Social and Special Program! Learn about the Guiding Eyes for the Blind Healing Autism Program, and listen as Jane Russenberger shares a look at the evolution of our puppy raising techniques.

A Trip to Yorktown Heights

Many of us have seen the training kennel, but if you haven't seen it lately, you are in for a GREAT surprise!

Jane Russenberger visits with Teresa

Guiding Eyes for the Blind is continuously working to improve the success of our dogs through early socialization and stimulation at the Canine Development Center, improved training methods for our puppies in pre-training and at the training school, and now through a new Kennel Enrichment Program for dogs who are living in the kennel during their guide dog training.

The Kennel Enrichment Program is a multifaceted program designed to provide a healthy combination of exercise and rest to stimulate our dogs' minds. The program is designed to create an inviting kennel environment; enhancing the dogs' lives and preventing stress during this important training period.

In the kennels our dogs are enjoying classical music, comfortable beds, scent enrichment (coconut, lavender and mint extracts are sprayed on the kennel walls), hanging toys, ice blocks, frozen Kong's, and one on one time with staff and volunteers. They have special toy time when they have the opportunity to play with different textured toys in a small controlled group outside their runs. They enjoy Community Run three times a day where they can play outside with larger groups of dogs in areas filled with kites, playground equipment, bubble machines, and swimming pools. The toys and activities are varied to reduce boredom. When our dogs are not training, resting or playing, they may be enjoying their weekly 15 minute massage in the peaceful massage therapy room with staff and volunteers who have been trained in soothing massage techniques.

Visa having fun with her trainer

Many thanks to Planet Dog for donating the toys these dogs are enjoying!

The icing on the cake is that our dogs actually get a break from the kennels once in a while. The trainers sometimes take the dogs out for a day of fun at nearby parks or lakes. The staff welcomes dogs into their offices during the day and into their homes at night. Volunteers also take the dogs home for weekend getaways.

All of these enhancements don't make it easy to say goodbye to our puppies when it is time for them to leave us, but knowing they are happy while they are preparing for their forever homes certainly helps!

Dogs work and play while in training in Yorktown Heights, NY!
